● Stalin, Revanth focus on cooperative federalism; 3 Opposition CMs stay away and his Telangana counterpart Revanth Reddy stressed on the need to uphold the principles of cooperative federalism in the match toward a "Viksit Bharat" by 2047. Reiterating his state's goal of becoming a one-trillion-dollar economy by 2030, Stalin said, "We are marching ahead with long-term plans. I assure you that Tamil Nadu will make a significant contribution to India's vision of a USD 30 trillion economy."

"To realise that vision, cooperative federalism must be the strong foundation. I strongly urge that the Union Government must extend cooperation without bias to all states, including Tamil Nadu, to help them achieve their development goals," Stalin said, drawing attention to the growing strain in Centre-state financial relations. He reserved some of his most forceful criticism for the Centre's decision to withhold funds under the Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan, citing Tamil Nadu's refusal to sign a Memorandum of Understanding tied to the PM SHRI scheme.

"Approximately Rs 2,200 crore of Union funds have been denied to Tamil Nadu for 2024-2025. This adversely impacts the education of children studying in government schools and those studying under the Right to Education Act," he said. "It is not acceptable in a cooperative federal India for funds due to a state and already approved to be withheld, delayed, or reduced."

Stalin also took aim at tax devolution trends, pointing out that while the 15th Finance Commission had recommended that states receive 41% of the Centre's net tax revenue, the actual share over the past four years had been only 33.16%.

"On one hand, the shrinking tax devolution from the Union affects state finances. On the other hand, the increased financial burden on states to co-fund centrally launched schemes places dual pressure on state budgets," he said. "I strongly urge the Union Government to increase the share of tax devolution to states to 50%, which is the only just course of action."

He also requested that Union ministries allow states to present schemes in their own languages alongside English. "Tamil Nadu should be able to present our schemes in Tamil and English," he said. "We appreciate the Prime Minister's vision, but that vision must accommodate India's diversity."

During his speech, Reddy also emphasised that "the progress of the nation is intrinsically linked to the progress of each of its constituent units".

"It is, therefore, imperative that we support, catalyse, and harness the potential of rapidly advancing states, while simultaneously extending every necessary assistance to those that are still catching up. This balance is crucial to achieving equitable national growth," he said. "We must continue to collaborate, exchange best practices, and support one another in building a resilient, inclusive, and future-ready India."

While Himachal Pradesh CM Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu flagged the issue of pending central dues to the state, Punjab CM Bhagwant Mann said his state was being meted out "stepmotherly" and discriminatory treatment.

Sukhu said the special needs of hill states should be taken into account and considered for higher allocation of funds, thereby relaxing eligibility criteria in various schemes.

"If legitimate dues are released in time, Himachal Pradesh will become self-reliant," he said. The CM also elaborated on his state's vision to position Himachal Pradesh as the most favoured tourist destination on the national tourism map. He said the government is working on a comprehensive tourism promotion package integrating religious, eco, water, nature, and health tourism to attract domestic and international tourists.

● Adani to Ambani: Sibal gets India Inc to pay ₹50 crore for lawyers' health cover

"There is no conflict if its CSR funds as the money is given to the association and not to any individual," he said.

When contacted, Sibal said, "There is no conflict of interest here. Where is the question? The donation is to the association and not to any member. Moreover, personally, I have and may appear again against or in favour of many of these companies. And I charge them. Our professional career is not based on our friendships."

Sibal said Mukesh Ambani (Reliance Industries) contributed Rs 10 crore, while Anil Ambani (Reliance Group), Gautam Adani (Adani Group), N Chandrasekharan (Tata Sons), Samir Mehta (Torrent Group), M Rao (GMR Group), Kumar Mangalam Birla (Aditya Birla Group), Anil Aggarwal (Vedanta) and Lakshmi Mittal (ArcelorMittal) gave Rs 5 crore each.

He said corporates would get tax exemption under Section 80G of the Income Tax Act. Donations made to specified institutions are allowed to be deducted from the taxable income under Section 80C.

CBA's new President Singh said his attempt would be (to ensure) that this policy was made available only to needy members of the Bar or members who support elderly parents. "It should not be made available for people like us. The policy, as announced by the earlier Executive Committee, is meant for everybody, including me, Mr Sibal etc. This kind of money can never be utilised for that... All this will be done only after discussing with my Executive Committee."

According to Sibal, 95 per cent of lawyers practicing in the Supreme Court do not earn well. "They come from all over the country to Delhi... to practise... most of them are not earning well... they have to spend money on rent, their families... and if they fall ill, have to foot medical bills." He said there are about 2,700-2,800 members of the SCBA who have voting rights, and will be eligible for the health cover.

Addressing an event organised by the SCBA on May 21, Sibal explained how he went about raising the money. "I started sort of collecting from those who I have served for the last 52 years... I rang up Anil Aggarwal of Vedanta. He readily agreed and gave us a contribution of Rs 5 crore. I rang up Anil Ambani, a dear friend of mine, and he had no choice but to say yes. So he gave Rs 5 crore. I rang up the GMR Group, both Mr Rao as well as Mr Bhaskar Chandran... and they said, 'Sir, now that you have asked, we will make sure that it happens', and it happened, Rs 5 crore," said Sibal.

"I rang up Gautam Adani, and I said it's time for you to contribute because you are more or less the emperor of India now and Rs 5 crore is too little for you. He said if you want more, I will give more, but here is Rs 5 crore. So he gave Rs 5 crore," Sibal said. "Mr Kumar Mangalam Birla, again an old friend of mine... served the Birla empire for many years... never asked them for anything. So I said, another Rs 5 crore from you, and he said yes," he said.

"Then I rang up another friend of mine, Lakshmi Mittal from London. He picked up the phone and I made that request. He said somebody will get in touch with you soon. So he gave Rs 5 crore," he said. "Then again, Mukesh Ambani. I knew Dhruvhai Ambani when I was a young lawyer and we had a very warm relationship... These boys were kids and they used to come to me and I used to do most of their matters in Bombay. So I asked him and he said Rs 10 crore. He said you will have the cheque soon. So he gave Rs 10 crore," Sibal said.

"Then I rang up Natarajan Chandrasekhar of Tata, whom I also know very well... and he also did not hesitate. So he gave Rs 5 crore," the senior counsel said. "And from the Torrent Group, Mr Samir Mehta, again a good friend of mine, and, in fact, Dushyant Dave told me, if he doesn't give it, let me know, I will make a call to him. But it didn't really happen. I asked him, he gave Rs 5 crore... In this process, we have Rs 50 crore with us," Sibal said.
